CONTRE-JOUR by

With Contre-Jour, the French manufacturer Revol unveils a sculptural and evocative collection designed by Noé Duchaufour-Lawrance.

Conceived as a composition in chiaroscuro, it elevates the table into an artistic landscape. A new grog-infused ochre ceramic body, a play of solids and voids, and an architectural approach to presentation, Contre-Jour explores a territory where material, light, and the culinary gesture engage in a powerful dialogue.

This collaboration marks a significant new milestone following the success of Caractère, reaffirming an ever more daring vision of the art of the table.

Available in Almond Green, Moka Brown & Olive Green

★ Porcelain ★ Stackable & Buildable ★ Mix & Match colors

Each piece is individually designed, both for its function and for the dialogue it creates with the others.

The design pays as much attention to solid forms as to the interstices they reveal. Open, flared shapes combine with more enclosed forms, creating a living architectural scenography that evolves with shifting inspirations. Voids become moments of breathing space, modulating the perception of the table through use and light, in a play of tensions and balances reminiscent of the quiet compositions of Giorgio Morandi.
